Contact the Army Volunteer Corp Coordinator at 0931-889-7103 or come by the Army Community Service Center to find out how you can become a part of the 417th Base Support Battalion Volunteer Corps.

There is a certain reward in being part of an effort that makes a difference. In contemporary society the problems are complex, the solutions more involved, and the satisfactions more obscure. It is these very challenges that spark the interest and involvement of volunteers.

Listed below are just a few of the organizations and locations that use volunteer services.

VOLUNTEERS don't get paid for their work; not because it's worthless, but because it's PRICELESS!
Just a few of the benefits of volunteering:

- Keep busy
- Remain active
- Meet new people
- Work for a cause
- Stretch your mind
- Try something new
- Master new skills
- Share your talents
- Sharpen old skills
- Develop competencies
- Experience for the future
- Demonstrate caring for others
- Discover undeveloped abilities
- Document for valid work experience
- Contribute to welfare of community
- Create solutions to community challenges

Army Community Service Volunteer Program

Army Community Service (ACS) is a worldwide organization composed of hard working and caring individuals. Some of these individuals are assigned civilian personnel that direct Army Community Service activities. Others are volunteers that support staff and assist with various Community Service Projects. When you join the Army Community Service Volunteer Family you become a valuable asset to the soldiers, their families and the agency staff.

The Volunteer Program provides an opportunity for you to gain experience in a professional atmosphere. We will assist you in finding a position that allows you to utilize your specific talents and interests.

The different Volunteer positions that are offered here at Army Community Service are as follows: Army Community Service Information & Referral, Exceptional Family Member (EFMP), Relocation Readiness (RRP), New Parent Support (NPSP), and Army Family Team Building (AFTB) programs.
